

Other Comments:

Simply to all the questions I say do not limit the ability of the consumer to record whatever they wish off of their television sets. Every time a restriction is put into place, people will find a way around it graduating into more and more high tech piracy.